Area communities will soon see new waste hauler

Local officials throughout the area are hoping the changes residents see in trash collection will be more efficiency and newly-painted trucks beginning in July.

Area-wide trash-hauler GFL Environmental has been sold to the Priority Waste company which will assume the routes and contracts with area communities. The sale, announced to employees May 29, will affect waste hauling throughout the tri-county area. A spokesman for Priority Waste said the company will retain all 800 current employees of GFL and incorporate the current trash hauling vehicles and other equipment into the company fleet.

According to Priority Waste Director of Public Relations Matt Allen, maintaining current employees and equipment should ensure a seamless transition for customers. Beginning in July the rebranding and painting of the distinctive lime green GFL trucks will begin. The trucks in the fleet will eventually all be yellow, Allen said. The trucks may continue to have the GFL logo for a period of time, until all the repainting and rebranding of the vehicles is complete.

No financial details of the sale were released.

Several area communities will begin to see the bright yellow Priority Waste trucks following the sale of GFL last month.

Plymouth Township has another two years of a five-year, $7 million contract with GFL while Canton Township officials approved a five-year, $26 million contract with GFL despite difficulties and service complaints from residents. In Canton, residents will receive new Priority Waste bins which should be used after July 29, officials said. Northville Township has also reported some difficulties with the service provided by GFL. In a prepared statement from the communications department, delays in trash pickup and failure of GFL to complete routes were referenced, along with delays in trash pickup.

Northville Township Supervisor Mark Abbo said he had recently been informed of the sale and change in service provider.

"The first thing we're going to do is look at our contract with GFL to see what our rights are," Abbo said. "Then we'll look at the kind of service Priority is providing to its customers, then determine what we're doing to do. We need to do our due diligence," Abbo said.

Heise said he had reviewed the Plymouth Township contract with GFL which was "transferable" but would continue to monitor the services provided.

Westland signed a 10-year contract with Priority Waste in 2021 at a cost of $38,449,174. Officials said Priority was the lowest of three bids received for the contract. The City of Belleville also has a contract for trash hauling with Priority Waste, as does Sumpter Township.

Noon Rotary Club awards $34,000 in student scholarships

The Plymouth Noon Rotary Club awarded $34,000 in scholarships to local students during an official presentation last month.

Rotary member Bill Weber presented the scholarships to the students awarded in consideration of several factors.

Student applications are evaluated on academic achievement, leadership, character, school activities and community service as well as financial need. Weber noted during the presentation that the many service projects in which the recipients had been involved were "truly remarkable as are their academic achievements."

"Aside from all of their achievements, they are just really nice people who do very much for other people," Weber said. "All of these students exhibited leadership traits by participating in student government, National Honor Society, service clubs including Interact and Key Club. In some capacity, they served as mentors to other students including participating in Link Crew where upperclassmen adopt incoming freshman to help them acclimate themselves to school."

He noted that each of the scholarship recipients had also participated in athletics and activities ranging from basketball, swimming, cross country track and field wrestling, Science Olympiad, National Honor Society, Aeronautics club, and Scouting, among others. Weber noted that in most instances, not only did the teens participate in the activities, they were selected to be captains and/or leaders of their teams.

Judge reconsiders downtown street closure decision

The turbulent legal issue regarding the closure of the downtown streets in the City of Northville has prompted a reconsideration of the last decision by Judge Charlene Elder of the Third Circuit Court of Michigan.

Elder reversed the preliminary injunction that prevented the city from closing sections of Main and Center streets and the city can now close the streets to vehicular traffic. Following the May 21 ruling, sections of Main and Center streets will be closed to traffic and could reopen Saturday evening following a special event ends. As soon as the court enters the order granting the motion for reconsideration and lifting the injunction, the city may take measures to close those streets to vehicles on a long- term basis, according to a city spokesman.

"We're happy to receive this good news," said City Manager George Lahanas. "Downtown Northville with its pedestrian plaza has become a very popular destination for residents and visitors. We will continue to vigorously oppose the lawsuit that prompted the initial injunction. Our legal counsel informed us that cities in Michigan have broad authority to manage streets based on the Michigan Constitution and Home Rule Cities Act."

Elder advised that when making the original ruling, she made conclusions on the element of irreparable harm. On reconsideration, she said she found that the affidavits by the plaintiff's members (Engerer, Good, Corriveau, Demray) had not substantiated their claims of losses and that of closing due to the street closures. She further reasoned that, even if there is economic loss as a result of the street closures, those losses would be compensable as damages, so there is a remedy for the alleged harm and it does not constitute irreparable harm.

On the road

Romulus police recently accepted delivery of one of five new vehicles assigned to the department. Earlier this month, the vehicle with updated markings designed by officers Shank and Green, was out on patrol in the community. The new vehicles will all also be equipped with new push bumpers and increased emergency side lighting to enhance visibility, officials said.

Much of the scholarship award is also based on community service, Weber explained.

"When we look at this aspect we are looking to the experiences that students have that are not related to mandatory service often associated with clubs such as National Honor Society," or Interact. I guess the best way to describe it- what do these students do when no one is looking and the services they participate in are outside of any requirements. Rest assured their contributions are impressive," he said.

Students presented financial scholarships included Maya Joiner who was awarded a $6,000 grant from the club. Joiner will be attending Hiram University in the fall and plans to study biology and psychology and perhaps find time to play a little basketball.

Emily Lin received a scholarship totaling $4,000 and will be attending The University of Michigan in the fall and plans to study engineering.

Gage Ellis will was awarded a scholarship totaling $12,000 and will be attending Western Michigan University in the fall and plans to study aviation science.

Anirudh (Ani) Krushman will also receive $12,000 scholarship and will be attending Johns Hopkins University in the fall and plans to study applied mathematics and statistics.
